Although, so intimate was her connection with him, his life and nmost thoughts at that time must have been as an open book to her, when death had once put an irrevocable seal upon his lins, her own closed, too, upon those pages f his existence; and but seldom were her references to the dark-eyed, passionate man who, in youthful days, had dedicated effusive lyrics to herself, and at a much later period once more became a suitor for her hand, and died, it is presumed, her be trothed. She was his first and last love. In 1825, when Poe was preparing to enter the University of Virginia, he experienced his innovation into the field of love. His devotions at this time were concentrated upon Miss Sarah Elmira Royster, the daughter of a neighbor of Mr. Allen then living on the corner of Fifth and Main streets, who had adopted the boy when left an orphan in 1809. The letters that never came failed to awaken a responsive love in the bosom of the girl, and the romance culminated in her early marriage to a merchant, and the outburst of some Byronical verse on the part of the duped suitor.

"The latest fad." said a shrewd old maid. who keeps a keen eye on all that goes on peace and harmony." in society and has the entree everywhere, "is for the young men of twenty or twenty five to flirt with some woman of thirty-five or forty. I don't think there is anything wrong in these attachments-the friendship is purely Platonic. I asked for an explanation from my big brother, and he says a woman is never interesting until she is thirty. 'Girls say yes to everything you say,' he said, 'or else they are so smart there is no enduring them.' A woman, when she gets to be twenty eight or thirty. finds out that if she holds her own she must have something beyond a handsome face, so she reads and tries to be well informed. They learn to be tolerant of others' ideas. Young men of twenty to twenty five know more than their seniors in liter ary matters, and more than they do them selves later. They are awfully book learned, I tell you, and use less slang, but a great deal more profanity than we do So I suppose that is why they catch on the old girls. You just talk with a man of thirty-five and you find that all he thinks of is business. Oh, yes! You just talk with a girl-one of our set-and its dress, dress, and nothing else. -Buffalo News.

"FLED WITH A CHRISTIAN!" A Fourteen-Year-Old Hebrew Maiden Elopes with a Gentlie.

About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon a carriage drove up to the residence of Rev. W. C. Lindsay. A couple alighted and, entering the house, requested the divine to tie the golden knot that should make the twain one flesh. They were made man and wife, and the marriage certificate bore the names of Camille Peixotto and Wm.

E McCartha. Ordinarily there is no romance or excitement attaching to such an affair, but the circumstances of this union are such as to make it of more than usual interest. It was an alliance of Jewess and Gentile, contracted without the knowledge and against the wishes of the former's parents. Mr. McCartha is a native of Alabama and He is at Spring Hill, Lexington county. about 26 years of age. The youthful bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. The New Fishery Treaty.

The new fishery treaty between the United States and Canada, sent to the Senate Tuesday, together with the President's message accompanying the same, makes about 6,000 words. This treaty, which replaces that of October 20th, 1818, permits the free navigation of the straits of Canso by fishing vessels of the United States, allows United States vessels to enter Canadian ports for bait and repairs without having to formally enter or clear when leaving; fishing vessels of Canada and New Foundland shall enjoy in the waters of the United States all the privileges that United States vessels are allowed in the waters of Canada and New Foundland; United States fishing vessels shall display official numbers conspiciously on the bow; penalties are given are three dollars for every ton of vessel so offending. Various other minor details are agreed upon. The President considers the treaty satisfactory, urges its ratification by the Senate and says: "The treaty now submitted to you has been framed in a spirit of liberal equity and reciprocal benefits, in the conviction that mutual advantage and convenience are the only permanent foundation of peace and friendship between States, and that with the adoption of the agreement now placed before the Senate, a beneficial and satisfactory intercourse between the countries will be established so as to secure perpetual

THE HEATHENS BLUSHED As They Feasted Their Eyes Upon Washington

Society Women.

A Washington dispatch says at the Chiness ball last night the Corean Legation was present in court costume, and its members moved about through the big parlors of Senator Stewart's palace with their big black sugar loaf hats held on to their curi ously shaped heads by a string of long glass beads of different colors which ran around under their yellow chins. Their almond eyes curiously watched the beautiful bare necks and shoulders of the fair ladies pres ent, and the Corean Minister says the women of this country, as they appear at evening receptions, look as though they grew up out of their clothes. The Coreans first appeared at a White House reception -it was in the jam of last week-their lemon colored cheeks blushed to a decided mas been in this city for the last eight months, and lately has been teaching school the Legation came up to Dr. Allen, their American Secretary, and asked him if he really hought it would be etiquette for them to look at these women. Allen told them to feast their eyes, and the indica tions at the ball last night showed that they were following his suggestion with a vengeance. In the mean time the young girls at Washington, at least some of them, seemed to enjoy the admiration of these Cyrean nobles, and they hung around them at this ball like the beautiful nymphs about the ugliest satyr.

A Brutal Husband Committed to Jail. On Tuesday last, Mr. R. D. Barrier, of Mount Pleasant, N. C., in response to a message from his sister, Mrs. B. F. Welsh, swore out a peace warrant, at her request, against B. F. Welsh, and the matter came up at once for a hearing before Trial Justice B. J. Witherspoon, Mrs. B. F. Welsh, his wife, John R. Welsh, his father and Mrs. Harriet Welsh, his mother, all appeared as witnesses against the defendant. The testimony was such a narrative of brutality and cruelty on the part of B. F. Welsh to his wife as to arouse the hot indignation of the many spectators who had gone into Court to hear the proceedings. If it had not been for the long and patient endurance of his noble wife, who has, for so long a time, sought to hide her troubles from the public, the savage husband would long ago have been incarcerated to prevent his outrages. On Tuesday, however, her patience was exhausted and the story of her wrongs was told. We venture to say that a more shocking history of cruel and crutal treatment by a husband to a wife has rarely, if ever, been told in a court before. The testimony developed that he had cursed her, kicked and beaten her, leaving his marks and bruises on her body, that he had pursued her with sticks, on one occasion with a butcher knife, presented pistols at her head threatening to blow her brains out, pursuing her from her home to her mother-in-laws in the dead hours of the night where she fled for pro-

The Trial Justice, after hearing the testimony, was so impressed with the gravity of the charges against the defendant and the danger that his wife was in, that he required a bond in the sum of $5,000 to keep the peace. He was committed to jail in default of bail.-Lancaster Ledger.

Uncertain Maladies.

There are at least a thousand doctors in the United States who wish they had the Crown Prince for a patient. This is not because they think they could cure him, nor for the sake of the money they could make out of the royal patient, but they honestly believe they could give that mysterious malady a name. For the past five or six months Dr. Mackenzie has been in constant attendance upon the patient. He has poulticed the larynx and bled-it and leached it, and, at last, he has cut a hole in the windpipe and put a tube for the breath to pass through; and now, after all this fuss, he comes out and says he does not know whether it is a case of perichrondites

If an ordinary man had a doctor of this kind the patient would be excused for kicking him down the front steps and telling him to hand in his till at once. People are beginning to doubt if the so-called "eminent" physicians, the men with big watchchains and fine turnouts, the men who make short calls and put in long bills, know anything. If they do, it is time showed it. The cases of President Garfield and General Grant are still fresh in the minds of all. There were from tive to a dozen of the best doctors in the country in constant attendance upon Garfield, yet they knew next to nothing about the location of that fatal bullet until he died. If skillful physicians are as ignorant as those who attended President Garfield and those who now have charge of the Crown Prince, the average man will prefer those who charge less and know more. It is about time the days of eminent inefficiency were ended.—Boston Globe.

THE NEW YORK TIMES publishes a fivecolumn history of the various trusts now known to be operating. At the head of the list stands the sugar trust, the value of its "plants" beir $15,000,000, capitalized at $60,000,000. he stock actually sells at 80, making $48,000,000 the actual basis for dividends-so that the increase in value, above the worth of the property, is $33,-000,000. Ten firms own the controlling interest in the concern. The castor oil trust is next on the list. It has raised the price from 40 cents to $1.24, but is not a very extensive affair so far as capital is concerred. School slates are "trusted" and have advanced 171 per cent. in price. Linseed oil has advanced in price from 38 cents per gallon in 1887 to 53 cents now. The capital of this trust is $11,000,000. The steel rail trust forced up prices from $27 to $40 per ton, but have been unable o keep them there, and are now accepting $31.50. Andrew Carnegle is said to have made $5,000 a day for 300 days while the price was up. The iron ore trusts is a big affair, but figures seem difficult to get concerning its operations. It seems pretty certain, however, that the bulk of the best ore lands of the country are in the hands of the syndicate. The Bessemer steel trust, the plow trust and the thresher trust, are doing well, but figures are lacking. The steel and iron beam trust is said to be getting $73.92 a ton for what costs it $20 a ton to make. The nail trust is too recently formed to permit of figures being given, but prices have already advanced. The wrought iron pipe trust has put prices up 21 per cent. and put wages down 10 per cent. The iron nut trust was formed on July 20, and is a quiet, but lucrative combination. The stone trust is yet in its in fancy, but with immense possibilities. The paper bag trust has $2,000,000 capital. There is a trust of honey producers being formed-not of bees, but the owners of bees. The oil cloth trust is said to have by making the second session longer than advanced prices 65 per cent. The Times points to the fact that nearly all the pro-

A Robust Cat Story. "When the city was in the midst of that desolation which marked the wilddog era there was an old man who lived in a broken-down box car which had been thrown off the track near the State road roundhouse. One day some of us soldiers went . into the old man's home to fry some bacon that somehow or other we had got hold of. When the meat began to fry the odor was wafted about by the breezes. It was an exceedingly appetizing odor, the more so because it was rather strange to Atlanta air and to Atlanta noses. Well, in few minutes the wild cats began to come from their hiding places, attracted by the odor of the frying meat. They came first singly, then in pairs, then by dozens, then by scores, then by hundrods, a great army of fierce-eved, vowling mousers. When the old man saw the cats about to invade his home in such swarms he got a club and stationed himself at a point near which the cats would have to pass. He went to work killing cats. He killed 5,000! I never in my life saw so many dead cats! "I guess not." I remarked. "No. I never did." said my friend: "I never did. The cats were thrown into a big washout near the car, filling it up completely. There were enough of them to fill a room twenty feet square and," added my friend, as I prepared to leave, "3,000 additional cats died from their wounds and were found in various parts of the city the next day." I forgot to ask what became of the ittle piece of bacon. - Atlanta Constila
